

YOU'RE VERY HUNGRY FOR SOME
NEW PROJECTS IN ARTWORKS & LABELLING?

We are looking for a
Regulatory Affairs Manager Artworks & Labelling (m/f/x)

Location: Heidenheim a. d. Brenz/Berlin/Porto/remote
Starting: at the next possible date

THE NEXT STEP IN YOUR EVOLUTION:

THE FORCE builds companies for companies in the healthcare, pharmaceutical, and medical devices sector.

We encourage work in a flexible surrounding and as a diverse group when it comes to gender, nationality, religion, and ways of working. This unique culture is aimed to integrate employees and partners seamlessly into one organization.

Likewise, this organization shall easily adapt to customer organizations. Our unique way of operation will release THE FORCE to solve customer problems in a fast, effective, and efficient manner.

In all of this, people are and will be at the center of our attention, and the most valuable asset we have: People are our strength. They make us THE FORCE.

YOUR DAILY FOOD:

- You get your teeth into global and local labeling management as well as artwork management.
- You give cooperation a leg up by taking on an interface function with production, supply chain, marketing, and regulatory affairs.

- You take the provision and efficient management of product labeling and artwork information under your wing.
- You get to the core of all relevant regulatory (global and local) requirements and ensure they're met.
- You adopt the development and optimization of processes, standards, and checklists.
- You take your time to chew on printer proofs of labels, leaflets, blisters, and cartons by reviewing and proofreading them.
- You smoothly take care of communication and coordination with international distributors and clients alike.
- You're hungry for optimizing processes and handle large amounts of information and artwork effectively.
- You'll easily bite when it comes to implementing text changes and preparing product launches.

THE QUALITIES WE'LL EAT UP:

- Several years of experience in regulatory affairs and artworks management build a solid cocoon for your work.
- Your know-how is crawling with good knowledge of regulatory labelling requirements.
- You've developed an independent, structured, and reliable way of work.
- Both our team and customers bear the fruit of your strong communication skills and abilities as a team player.
- Your affinity for IT isn't on its last leg, but rather you have an aptitude for technical solutions.
- You take wing with your ability to solve problems.
- You've got an eye for detail and the small things.
